A look at some of the leading hydrogen energy stocks investors should keep an eye on in the coming year. Hydrogen serves as a clean fuel, emitting only water vapor, with high market potential but production challenges. Investing in hydrogen stocks offers exposure to a future multitrillion-dollar. These investments offer ways to get in early on the green hydrogen boom. Green hydrogen technology, which uses renewable energy to make the fuel, remains much more expensive than "gray hydrogen" made from natural gas, meaning it isn't competitive at commercial scale without government support. This. Green hydrogen, despite the fancy name, is simply hydrogen made with clean electricity. Hydrogen itself isn't a fuel source to be dug up; it's an energy carrier, like a battery to be filled and empty. The "green" label just reveals how it's produced. Instead of using natural gas—called "gray". MarketBeat flags seven Hydrogen stocks to watch today: NuScale Power, Plug Power, CF Industries, FuelCell Energy, Lifezone Metals, Fusion Fuel Green, and NewHydrogen.
